10,000 Samples Given Away.

Hair troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for it is a result of it that it is simply a product of the scalp, and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured, and grown, and it alone should receive the attention it merits. It would be no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful, if the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp, in which the hair grows, must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment, when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant, or even a tree, would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing to do in either case is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp, as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

My True Hair Grower has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural food or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly, and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderful nourishing and life-producing qualities. It would be no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful, if the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp, in which the hair grows, must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

HOSPITAL DAY. RECORD COLLECTION.

TOTAL TO DATE, £9164.

The ball-up of citizens on Saturday by an army of 4500 ladies resulted in a record collection for the annual Hospital Saturday appeal. The total, £9164 17s 10d, is larger in comparison with that of last year, by £1461 18s, and an increase of £1134 2s 10d on the year 1913, which hitherto stood as high-water mark.

So many calls had been made on the people of late, because of the war, that the ladies had an uphill battle, but it can be truly said that they worked with unflinching enthusiasm. They evidently realised, quite fully that their task was to be a stupendous one, and from the very early morning they set after their prey with a vigour which was quite remarkable. People found everywhere they went, no matter if they were down side lanes, or took the train instead of walking, that they had no escape.

The gratification was excellent, and worked with wonderful precision. Every strategic point, whether a ferry wharf or a railway station, or street corners, was provided with a stand presided over by a lady who had in each case plenty of willing assistants. Some of the stands were tributary to the public taste of these ladies, and were in themselves an appeal to the citizens' generosity. Perhaps, the most perfect organisation was to be seen at the culminating point of all the energy—the Bank of New South Wales. It was at the bank that all boxes had to be opened, and all the coins counted. The "weight" of money was remarkable. The coin, after being weighed and remarked, was carried in buckets to the chief cashier's department, where it was put into bags, and taken away in trucks to the strong-room. To compass the work the bank had 84 tellers at work, with 42 assistants, engaged in rolling the copper. Ten chief tellers were in the chief cashier's room putting the cash away, altogether about 200 giving their services. Three shifts were worked, but practically the whole of the morning shift and some of the afternoon shift, were again at night. The biggest rubbers were at about 11 o'clock and 6 o'clock. For those periods of the day the handling of the coin was easily a record.

The ordinary tellers sat through about 11 p.m., but it was after midnight before the final balance was completed. The arrangements under the supervision of the accountants were automatically to perfection. The same might be said of the branch of work which was controlled by the Town Hall staff in the issue of receipts in duplicate. The big banking chamber was divided into eight departments, each with a staff of officials, who had two or more assistants.

TOTAL WILL EXCEED £10,000.

In addition to the amount of £9164 17s 10d, which was paid in on Saturday, there were a number of French coins, about 25, which were contributed by French sailors and soldiers. These coins were paid into the bank, and according to Mr. Justice Gordon, the bank will allow their full face value at the current rate of exchange. The coins comprised 100 of 10 centimes, 6 of 5 centimes, and in silver, 1 two-franc piece, 1 one-franc piece, 25 10-centime pieces, and one 20 centime. There were other French coins more or less defaced, which cannot be counted at their face value, and the loss thereby will have to be deducted from the present total. The authorities are, however, satisfied that this year's appeal, when all returns are in, will exceed £10,000, which has been the aim of recent years.

Many laudable instances of the performance given by the hands of the police and military, the former in the middle, and the latter at night, were the most attractive. Captain W. G. Bentley, A.R.C.M., was the conductor.

There were humorous incidents as usual. One man fell from a train. He had a shilling's worth of half-pennies, which scattered over the roadway. He saw the ladies coming and dived. The whole of the abandoned coins were soon transferred to the boxes.

A collection box was attached to a goat at Marrickville and two bull dogs acted as collectors in parts of the city.

COMMITTEE GRATIFIED.

Mr. Justice Gordon, chairman of the board, stated yesterday afternoon that the annual appeal had proved to be the record one. There would be additional receipts before the close of the financial year on May 31, when it would probably be found that the whole appeal would exceed £10,000. All the collecting stations (24) showed an increase on Saturday as compared with the previous year, except Mosman (a reduction of 6s 8d) and Ryde (a decrease of £22 15s 10d).

The whole was an astonishing result, considering the enormous task which had fallen upon everybody. The committee considered this result was largely due to the fact that the appeal was brought prominently before the public by the Lord Mayor, the president of the fund, who had called a special meeting at the Town Hall about a fortnight ago. Thanks were due also to the press, to the moving picture shows, and to the Trolly Draymen, and Carriers' Union, which displayed posters.

The city outdoor collections totalled £2372 6d, of which £1232 11s 2d, or hold £235 18s, subscriptions £10 18s 6d, and donations £196 10s, the last-mentioned including the following:—Perpetual Trustee Estate of F. Riley, £10; Sir James Fairfax, £20; Margaret, Ltd., £21; New South Wales Trotting Club, £20; Associated Racing Clubs, £10; Rosehill Racing Course Committee, £10; L. J. Dwyer, £20; £10 10s, and Mr. Justice Gordon, £10 10s.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

EARLY MORNING MUSKETRY.

Anyone who doubts the sincerity of the rifle club reserve movement would do well to pay a visit to the Randwick Rifle Range. From 5 o'clock in the morning till 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the early morning hour is better. The people would often see several hundred city men, taken in hand, and given a thorough course in the use of the rifle. The range is a fine one, and the people are formed up into four, and at the end of the morning they are given a thorough course in the use of the rifle. The range is a fine one, and the people are formed up into four, and at the end of the morning they are given a thorough course in the use of the rifle.

When they are given a thorough course in the use of the rifle, they are given a thorough course in the use of the rifle. The range is a fine one, and the people are formed up into four, and at the end of the morning they are given a thorough course in the use of the rifle.

In connection with the shooting of the child round of the metropolitan grade matches at Randwick on Saturday, April 25, one card which was mailed that afternoon, that of North Sydney Club, has come to hand. Shooting in the championship grade, this club's team scored an aggregate of 391 with their eight best scores, 14 shots at 700 yards. G. H. Paine did best with 56. Added to the club's previous total for the first and second rounds, of 388, it brings their aggregate to 1379, which places them seventh on the list.

ITEMS.

The drought continues inland, over a large portion of Australia, and the situation grows more serious every day with the approach of the cold weather.

Some very heavy losses amongst cattle through the drought are reported from Queensland, while the losses in sheep alone in this State must now be very severe.

In some parts of the wheat belt early snow has been estimated and dried off, owing to lack of rain to keep it alive.

Mr. Ross, Chief Inspector of Agriculture, advises farmers to go right ahead sowing wheat where the ground is not too dry to plough.

In Queensland the area of temporary forage reserves has been increased to three million acres, and of permanent reservations to one million acres.

A witness in a case in the court in Brisbane the other day made the statement that in 15 years he had spent between £30,000 and £40,000 in clearing prickly pear on his holding.

Our Blacktown correspondent says that Government fruit inspectors expressed surprise at the quantity of citrus fruits which had fallen from the trees after the wet weather. The greater part of the crop of oranges was unmarketable.

To assist the fruit industry in Queensland steps are to be taken to secure the services of a fruit expert with knowledge of marketing, great stress being laid on the value of the latter qualification.

In proof of the great falling-off in business in the meat trade, it was mentioned by the chairman of Eastman's, Ltd., meeting in London that of the 50,000 butcher shops in the country, at least 20,000 had closed since the outbreak of war.

On the Wollondra wheat area the Government has sown 3000 acres of wheat and will continue sowing operations until the end of May. The grain is being put in at the rate of about 400 acres per day.

Complaints of delay in delivering seed wheat are made against the Wheat Acquisition Board, but the board has received also a large number of letters from growers complaining that the way in which it has carried out the same work.

It is reported that on Botallia estate, the heavy growth of grass during the summer has not been allowed to go to waste, as tons of it has been made into hay. The same way step is said to have been taken in other parts, and if so it is a matter for congratulation.

In the northern State little money is being spent on permanent timber nurseries and plantations, as it is considered that such a policy is not warranted until sufficient time has elapsed to enable the silvicultural properties of the most important trees to be studied. This is being done in two small nurseries.

The "Tweed Daily" writes: "It is understood that the tick within the Tweed area just now is rather active. While heavy infestations have not been reported, yet holdings are found to be infested with monotonous persistence. The cry for dips and more dips goes on unheeded by the Department."

To fight fungus pests in our citrus orchards systematic spraying efforts are required, and growers are willing to go ahead, but the information available as regards treatment is too meagre. The fruit business in New South Wales has come to stay, and the sooner the authorities set about more systematic experiments with a competent staff on full time the better for the industry.

In a case of selling milk below standard in Brisbane a defendant put forward the plea that the milk supply always fell off when he dipped his cattle against ticks. Instead of 23 per cent. of butter fat the milk showed only 20 per cent. The police magistrate did not accept the plea, though he said that he did not think any water had been added, and fined the dairyman in a substantial amount.

Whilst a wet climate has its advantages for citrus culture, the consequent attack by fungus diseases is a big drawback. The Gosford district is noted for its wet, humid climate, with a result that citrus fruit culture has advanced by leaps and bounds. Now that the orchards are reaching full bearing the natural vigor of the plant is lessened, and physiological conditions are considerably disturbed. Naturally fungus diseases get a hold.

FRUITGROWERS.

MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the executive of the Fruitgrowers' Association of New South Wales was held at Cessford Hill on Saturday, with Mr. John Noll, president, in the chair. A communication was read from Mr. G. Valder, Under-Secretary, Department of Agriculture, in reply to a letter from the association respecting the prevalence of fruit fly. He stated that reports furnished by the department's inspectors showed that, although fruit fly infection was fairly common in the coastal fruitgrowing centres, the degree of infection had considerably diminished. The fruitgrowing areas further inland were practically free from it. The department had been keenly alive to the interests of growers, and repeated representations had been made to the United States authorities, with a view to inducing them to relax somewhat their restrictions against the importation of fruit from New South Wales, but on far little success had been achieved in this direction. At the present time the New South Wales Trade Commissioner to America (Mr. Nielsen) had the matter in hand, and was taking active steps to secure a modification of the existing regulations.

A letter was received from the Prime Minister in reply to a communication from the association respecting the protection through the Customs of fruitgrowing areas in Australia. He stated that the government was being brought to the notice of the Minister for Trade and Customs for consideration. Complaint was made that inconvenience was caused to growers, owing to a scarcity of trucks at Penrith Hill station for the carriage of fruit off to Melbourne. In consequence, fruit had to be sent to Sydney and thence by boat. It was decided to make representations to the Railway Commissioners.

Mr. Purdie (Glendale branch) reported that it was the desire of his branch that the restrictions imposed by the regulations under the Fruit Fly Act in respect to the shipping of fruit from the one-mile limit of any fruit-fly infected orchard in New Zealand should be lifted entirely as far as possible. It was decided to make representations to the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Purdie also reported that lemon juice was being imported by certain Sydney firms, for the manufacture of lemon squash, from the Pacific Islands, which was having an injurious effect upon the industry of citrus fruitgrowing. It was resolved to draw the attention of the Minister for Customs to the matter, with a view to the imposing of restrictions on the imported article.

MEETINGS OF FARMERS.

BEEPING.—At the annual meeting of the Biting branch of the Farmers and Settlers' Association the following officers were elected: President, Mr. J. C. Clarke; vice-president, Mr. R. E. Tyle; secretary, Mr. J. H. Parker; treasurer, Mr. H. R. Parker. The membership for the landholders was fixed at £1 per 50 acres and £1 per 100 acres additional, with a maximum of £3. Mr. A. Dun-levy's Wonnamurra property, of 1185 acres, has been disposed of to Mr. J. Mason, at about £4/10 an acre.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT.

ACTUAL RESULTS OF HARVEST.

12,500,000 BUSHELS.

The Government Statistician, Mr. J. B. Trivett, reports that the compilation of the returns has advanced sufficiently to permit of the publication of the following particulars respecting the actual results of the wheat harvest in this State for 1914-15.

Mr. Trivett states: "Owing to the intense interest attaching to information concerning the actual results of the wheat harvest, and on account of the abnormal conditions due to the drought and war, a pre-harvest estimate was prepared in November last. At that time it was expected that the grain harvest would amount to approximately 12,500,000 bushels, and although this was considered a conservative estimate, the returns just collected from each of the farmers show that for various reasons the actual results have fallen short of the individual estimates furnished by about 2,500,000 bushels in the aggregate. This is not surprising, as particulars for the estimates were collected from the farmers several weeks earlier than usual, and before the great majority of the growers had commenced harvesting operations. A continuance of the dry weather conditions then prevailing further affected the crops adversely. It is probable, too, that the grain production was further reduced on account of the scarcity and the enhanced price of fodder of all descriptions, and farmers who were disposed to reserve their crops for grain had to cut them to provide feed for their starving stock. In this respect the actual area harvested for grain shows a decrease of 60,000 acres compared with the November estimate of the area to be reserved for grain."

The production of grain amounted approximately to 12,500,000 bushels. It is to be added 1,400,000 bushels, representing carry-over by millers and farmers from previous seasons, there would have been as the result of last season's operations 14,900,000 bushels available for export and seed requirements. Under ordinary conditions about 14,500,000 bushels are required each year for these purposes, so that there is an apparent deficiency of 500,000 bushels. Against this, however, must be placed 1,000,000 bushels, the equivalent of stocks held by bakers, storekeepers, and produce merchants, etc., so that there was an apparent surplus. The following table shows the area under wheat in the various divisions of the State, together with the production of grain and hay—

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

M. H. MARSH WINS SINGLES.

After being in progress for nearly three weeks, the New South Wales championship tournament was almost completed on Saturday, the incomplete event being the ladies' doubles championship, in which two of the competitors in the final—none from each side—were competing to return to Melbourne. As the four competitors are all residents of the southern capital, it is probable that the championship will be decided there. The winner on Saturday, as on many of the concluding days of the prolonged event, was Marshall. The old adage of the pitcher that goes often to the well applies to M. H. Jones in the championship round of the singles championship. He had gone to the well of a deciding set on six occasions during the tournament, and returned unharmed, but on Saturday the fifth set proved too much for him. He had been playing his customary game of playing everything back, and not taking any unnecessary risks. He also played accurately by many fine passing strokes when Jones advanced to the net. Jones had exhibited a weakness on his backhand in going down the line or to the net, though across court he was fairly safe, if not severe. In the fourth set Marshall did not play upon this weak spot often enough, and, laying into errors, Jones won a love set. The play was not, however, suggestive of the impression that Jones had gained the upper hand, so that it was not surprising that Marshall in the deciding set established a 3-0 lead, followed by a 6-1. Here Jones made a great effort, and won three games. However, it was a vain endeavour to save the match, for Marshall, serving, led 2-0, gained a service ace, and finished with a passing shot down the line that put him on the edge of it. Marshall's win was a fitting reward, for, in addition to his seven or eight backhanded strokes, he had won three games. ## DARDANELLES.

ALLIES' TASK.

WORK OF COLONIALS.

DETERMINED ATTACK.

LONDON, April 30.

It is officially stated that the disembarking began before sunrise on the 25th. The British landed at Cape Teke, Cape Helles, and the French landed at Soma Bay, and the Australians and New Zealanders on the beach north of Gaba Tepe. There was immediate success except at Sedd-i Bahr, where some delay occurred. Steady progress continued to the 28th. The Allies have since rested and consolidated their positions. All attacks were repulsed. The army's casualties were heavy, but those of the fleet were slight. Turkish warships repeatedly attempted to interfere, but always fled on the approach of the Queen Elizabeth, which sank an 800-ton transport off Moudros on the 27th.

The Australians and New Zealanders landed on the Sari Bair slopes on the 25th, and pushed on with the utmost boldness, being constantly engaged with the enemy, whose strong repeated counter-attacks were invariably repulsed. The colonials fought with fine spirit and determination. A fresh Turkish division attacked Sari Bair early on the 27th, after heavy artillery fire. A hot engagement followed. The enemy charged repeatedly. The colonials defeated every attempt, and resumed the offensive at 3 in the afternoon.

The landing force at Sedd-i Bahr beach was unable to advance until evening, when the force from Cape Helles made a flank attack, and relieved the pressure. The enemy still held the position at Sedd-i Bahr. On the morning of the 28th the British, aided by the fire of the fleets, stormed the position by a frontal attack through underground entrenchments, capturing four companies, and securing the end of the Gallipoli Peninsula. The Turks attacked Helles on the morning of the 27th, but were repulsed. The British have since established an entrenched line two miles north from Teke to Keikhan.

The fleet's casualties were confined to the destroyer, and some boats' crews. The destruction of stores and artillery continued.

The triumph bombarded Moudros, and the place is burning.

No further communique will be issued until the next phase of the attack is complete.

"Signed FERGUSON."

SYMPATHY FOR BEREAVED.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Fisher, commencing to-day upon the action in Turkey, said: "While very proud of the valor and capacity shown by our soldiers at the front, we are saddened by the losses we have suffered, and I desire, on behalf of the Government, to convey to all the families and relatives of the men who have fallen gloriously, or been wounded, our deepest sympathy in their bereavement or affliction."

"Signed FERGUSON."

POST OF HONOUR.

GIVEN TO AUSTRALIANS.

LONDON, May 1.

The "Daily Chronicle" says: "The Australians and New Zealanders were given the post of honour against the threat, being first at the Narrows of the Dardanelles, which were the first main objective of the Allies' attack."

The "Evening Standard" says: "The fortune of war has at last given the Australians and New Zealanders their turn, and they are making the best use of it. The Dardanelles operations have special and peculiar dangers, which are being met with special and peculiar skill and valor."

NOT BEHIND CANADIANS.

The "Observer" expresses confidence that the Australians and New Zealanders are not behind the Canadians in Flanders for resolute soldierly and combat for death. They have already made good their hold on the lower slopes of Sari Bair, one of the highest hills on the rugged peninsula.

AMATEUR STRATEGY.

LORD BERESFORD'S CRITICISM.

Lord Charles Beresford, M.P., ex-Armial, speaking at Portsmouth on the Dardanelles position, said it was rather like an amateur game of strategy to undertake the attack when the weather was unfavourable, and before the army was ready, and the sets out to guard the ships against floating mines. Later an inquiry must be made into the Government's mistake. The Dardanelles campaign, he declared, requires every available man.

FLEET INSIDE.

ATTAINED, April 30.

The Allied fleet remained inside the Dardanelles last night, and repulsed a terrific bombardment at daybreak.

AUSTRALIANS' RUSE.

It is reported that the Australians by the ruse they carried out with the aid of donkeys, captured 670 Turks, including two German officers.

THE TURKS.

GREAT REINFORCEMENTS.

SOFIA, May 1.

The Turks are hurriedly sending great reinforcements to the Gulf of Saros and the shores of the Sea of Marmara.

OUR ILLUSTRATIONS.

We publish on page 5 of to-day's issue portraits of the Sea of Marmara, the Dardanelles, and the Gallipoli Peninsula, and on page 12 a group of the French reserves from New Caledonia are in action on their way to the front, a view of the recent battle of Gallipoli, and a group of the Australian and New Zealand troops.

INTO RUSSIA.

NEW GERMAN MOVE.

BALTI PROVINCES.

AMSTERDAM, May 1.

A Berlin communique states: A battle at Shauli (in the province of Kono, some 85 miles north-east of Tiflis, and about the same distance from the coast) ended in our favour.

The Russians lost heavily, and retreated to Mili after setting fire to the town.

We took a thousand prisoners and ten machine guns.

An earlier Berlin communique stated that the Germans reached the Danubian-Liban railway (which runs through Shauli) on a large front, the Russians not offering resistance.
